

New Expense Account Rules Less Drastic

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The men in gray flannel suits who love to grab the tax deductible luncheon check breathed more easily today. The new expense account rules are less drastic than they had feared.

The basic regulation on travel and entertainment deductions was issued Friday by Commissioner Mortimer Caplin of the Internal Revenue Service. It probably did not put an end to expense account living, but it reduced that living standard somewhat.

It left some questions of deductibility up to the revenue agent who checks the income tax return, including the big one:

What is "lavish or extravagant entertainment," barred from deductibility by the 1962 tax law?

The regulation set no dollar limitation on lavishness. Caplin said the IRS will decide each case on individual circumstances.

The National Restaurant Association, one of many organizations in the entertainment, travel and dining-out industries which have complained that the expense account crackdown is hurting business, conceded that IRS has arrived at "a fairly liberal interpretation" of last year's law.

But the association's Washington counsel, Thomas W. Power, predicted that the 88-page regulation "will only add to the confusion."

Caplin indicated he was satisfied with the rules as they stand.

The regulation still is subject to change, although it is effective as of last January 1 for the 1963 tax year.

Public hearings will be held five or six weeks from now when comments and objections will be heard.

Then a revised and final version will be drafted, to take effect 30 days after it is issued.

In the meantime, Caplin has ordered IRS agents to "resolve reasonable doubts in favor of taxpayers," if the taxpayers have made good faith efforts to comply.

In the 1962 tax law, Congress directed IRS to add some teeth to the old rule which made entertainment and travel costs deductible if the taxpayer showed merely that they were ordinary and necessary business expenses.

The new regulation makes it clear that entertainment outlays intended simply to foster business good will do not ordinarily qualify as deductible henceforth. But some of the most common good will expenses will still be recognized by IRS.

Brooks Hays May Run For Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Speculation is growing that Brooks Hays, former congressman from Arkansas who is now a special assistant to President Kennedy, will resign his post for political ambitions.

The Dallas Times-Herald said in an article Wednesday that Hays would resign in a few months to "run for governor of Arkansas in the next general election."

Sources in Little Rock said Thursday Hays is reported tired of the pace of his current post.

Hays is in West Africa on a presidential mission and is not expected to return to Washington until April 19.

Showdown in Brazil Seems to Be Near

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Unrest fanned by Communist agitators at a pro-Cuba conference threatened today to provoke a showdown between a militantly anti-Red state governor and federal officials.

President Joao Goulart's government ordered federal troops Friday night to occupy all federal buildings in Rio de Janeiro.

Carlos Lacerda, the fiery governor of Guanabara State, which includes Rio, immediately denounced the move. He said it opens the way for intervention in his state.

Behind the bickering was the International Cuban Solidarity Congress, a Communist propaganda show called to whip up anti-American sentiment and support for the Goulart government's hands-off-Cuba policy.

Lacerda has called the conference subversive. His police chased conference delegates out of Rio this week, arresting some, and forcing the conference to meet across Guanabara Bay in Niteroi, outside Lacerda's jurisdiction.

Goulart's government has neither encouraged nor condemned the conference. Foreign Communists, however, have reportedly found it difficult to get Brazilian visas to attend the meeting.

Gen. Albino Silva, chief of Goulart's military household, said the federal troops were ordered into Rio because strikes and threatened walkouts have produced restlessness, endangering public buildings, state trolley and street car company workers are on strike.

Negroes Stay in Jail at Pine Bluff

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—The number of Negroes in the Pine Bluff city jail swelled to 48 Thursday night with the addition of 16 arrested at a movie theater during a demonstration that marked the fourth straight day of racial incidents here.

Thirty-two already were in the jail, which has a capacity for sleeping 30 prisoners.

The 16, ranging in age from 15 to 18, arrived at the theater about 8 p. m. and stood undisturbed for about 30 minutes. Police were called when the group refused to leave at the request of theater manager Bruce Young and the demonstrators were loaded into a patrol wagon for the 3-block trip to the jail.

All were booked on charges of creating a disturbance in a public place and were held on $500 bonds.

The charge is the same one used against 27 demonstrators arrested at the theater Wednesday night.

Five other Negroes are being held.

Guernsey, Five Miles West, Has Quite a History and at One Time Real Robin Hood

By MARY ANITA LASETER

During the early 19th century there sprang up on what was then the old Military Road from Washington to Spring Hill and Dooley's Ferry, the settlement known as Guernsey. The old settlers claim it was called Guernsey because the word Guernsey means island. In one sense, it really is an island, for the spring which is the source of Little Bois d'Arc creek starts in a field, flows completely around Guernsey, returns to the field from which it springs, and flows south to join Big Bois d'Arc at the little settlement of Sheppard.

Some of the first families to come to Guernsey were the Grounds, Hopsons, Franks, Houstons, Melvers, Hays, Captain Kittens, and the Walkers. Old Professor McIver was the first man to teach a free school in this township. Thus far we have dealt with facts, but everyone likes a good story, so here follows two about Guernsey.

There is a romantic story about one Uncle Davy Grounds when he first came to this state and homesteaded his place. It is alleged that Uncle Davy fell in love with an Indian girl, but due to tribal prejudice he was unable to marry her. When President Jackson was moving all the Indians out to the Indian Territory, Uncle Davy stole his Indian sweetheart and married her when her tribe left. After the tribe had gone to the Territory, some of her people returned and hunted for the girl, but Uncle Davy was too slick for them, and they returned empty-handed.

Then, there is a story told of an outlaw who later became known as the "Robin Hood of Guernsey." This fellow, a handsome, likeable fellow, married one of the prettiest girls in the community. While he bore the reputation of being "rough on rats," he was considered one of the kindest-hearted of men. It is rumored he would trade a herd of cattle in someone else's pasture to a man for horses; send his henchmen after the horses and dispose of them; then, when the trader came for his cattle he would find they belonged to someone else and the possessor would deny all knowledge of the transaction.

"Robin Hood" was also accused of murdering an old war veteran and drawing his pension until apprehended. However, the only evidence obtainable was where some bushes had been whittled on with a knife that had a nick in the blade. The accusers claimed that "Robin Hood" hid in these bushes and trimmed the twigs away to get a clear view of his victim whom he ambushed. The knife was apparently traced to him.

The case went to trial and the defendant was acquitted.

The good deeds of our hero were told for many years by those who remembered him. It is said that no one ever went to him in trouble that they didn't receive help and no questions were asked.

Whether all the foregoing is true or not will never be proved, as the past is too far gone. But the old stories in private cemeteries at Guernsey show that it is steeped in history, for some of the dates show that there were settlers there long before Arkansas was a state.

Business Outlook Has Brightened

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A perceptible brightening of the business outlook has caused the administration to boost—officially—its estimate of national output in 1963.

The pickup now foreseen is too slight to cause a drop in the high rate of unemployment, official sources said, but it should prevent any further rise in joblessness and has virtually dispelled fears of a recession this year. It also could improve the federal budget outlook slightly.

Highly sensitive business indexes now point to a better than anticipated spring, but the tipoff to a shift in administration thinking came from Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, in a speech last Monday to the Magazine Publishers Association.

Heller dropped the hint so guardedly that reporters did not pick it up. National production, he said, should total $78 billion to $80 billion in 1963. His January forecast was $78 billion.

Administration sources said today that Heller's phrasing was deliberate and significant. National output could go $1-billion to $2-billion higher than was forecast only 2½ months ago; the $78 billion figure is now in the lower range of expectations.

The improvement should create enough new jobs to absorb the year's crop of new entrants to the labor force, it was estimated, but not enough to take up any of the idle capacity in industry or reduce the unemployment rate from the unsatisfactory area of 6 per cent. It was 6.1 per cent last month.

There will be no letup, therefore, in Kennedy's pressure on Congress for tax reductions as business stimulant, officials emphasized.

They pointed out that a total output of $80 billion would represent only a $26-billion increase from last year—very slightly more than the $25-billion rise in 1962 which failed to prevent rising unemployment.

Pilot Is Again With Family

By DALE NELSON

WHITEHORSE, Yukon Territory (AP)—"We have been happy for 17 years, but this is the beginning again," said Teresa Flores after her reunion Thursday night with her husband, who survived seven nightmarish weeks in the Canadian North.

Mrs. Flores arrived from their home in San Bruno, Calif., and rushed to the bedside of her pilot-electrician husband, Ralph, who is recovering in the Whitehorse General Hospital from his plane crash Feb. 4, and the ordeal that followed.

"I don't want to let him out of my sight any more," said Mrs. Flores, 39. "Yes, I'll stay till he goes. I don't know when they will let him."

"We all knew he was alive. The oldest twins felt it more strongly. When I cried, they told me he was all right. He knew what he was doing and he was strong."

The couple has six children. Dr. Nosta James said Flores' general condition is good, and he can get around on crutches. He suffered a broken jaw, a broken rib, some frostbite and lost 51 pounds.

Helen Klaven, 21, Brooklyn coed who also survived the ordeal after Flores' plane crashed, was transferred to another hospital in Fairbanks, Alaska, Thursday. A doctor there said she will rest a few days while it is decided when she can go home.

Doctors in Whitehorse had said her frostbitten right toes would have to be amputated. The operation has not been performed.

Her feet were swathed in bandages Thursday as Miss Klaven checked out of the Whitehorse hospital in a wheelchair.

In Fairbanks, Dr. John I. Weston reported: "She is in much better condition than could be expected considering the ordeal, but a little thin."

Miss Klaven's brother Arthur arrived from Connecticut on the plane she took and accompanied her to Fairbanks.

Flores and Miss Klaven crashed in British Columbia while en route in their light plane from Fairbanks to San Francisco. Searchers found them Monday after a plane spotted them on a mountain slope near the Yukon border.

Looks Forward to Getting His Parole

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Lee Goins, 55-year-old Saline County man who has spent the last 32 years in prison, looks forward today to possible parole later this year.

The way to freedom for Goins was cleared by Gov. Orval E. Faubus Thursday with a pardon on four counts of kidnapping, for which he faced a total of 40 years imprisonment.

Goins, sent to prison in 1931 on a 12-year sentence for burglary and grand larceny in Saline County, escaped two years later, records show.

While he was free he and a companion robbed a post office at Keokuk, Ark. Later he was convicted on five charges stemming from his involvement in kidnappings in the Texarkana area.

He received 10 years for each count, the terms to be served consecutively. He served 17 years of a 35-year federal sentence on the post office charges before being returned to Arkansas state Prison to finish his original 12-year term.

Goins started serving the first of the kidnapping terms in 1959. Faubus reduced the life sentence of Cooler Martin to 30 years and that of Mannie B. Huffstetter to 60 years. Both will soon be eligible for parole.

Martin was sentenced Feb. 10, 1953 in Columbia County and Huffstetter in Crawford County in 1943. Both were convicted of first degree murder.

Citizenship rights were restored by Faubus to M. Norwood Phillips Jr., former Hot Springs city attorney who last year was given a suspended four-year prison sentence on guilty pleas to two charges of forgery.

Other commutations were: T. O. Puckett, sentenced to nine years on May 24, 1961 for arson and robbery in Garland and Phillips counties, reduced to parole eligibility.

William R. Wiggins, sentenced to 10 years Nov. 12, 1957 for burglary in Phillips County, reduced to six years.

Delbert Green, sentenced to 15 years Nov. 21, 1961 for second degree murder in Garland County, reduced to four years.

Robert L. Burns, sentenced to five years on July 2, 1962 for embezzlement in Washington County, reduced to two years.

Willie Banes, sentenced Oct. 19, 1962 to two years for assault with intent to kill, reduced to parole eligibility. Banes was sentenced in 1953 after he became involved in a fight while on parole from a first degree murder sentence he began serving in 1957.

Bennett Hand Out a Lesson in History

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett gave a history lesson with an editorial today to a California student who asked him about circumstances under which Arkansas ratified the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Carla Canete of Portola Valley, Calif., asked Bennett when Arkansas ratified the amendment and "Were there any outstanding incidents surrounding the state action?"

Bennett told her the amendment was ratified April 6, 1868, and then he launched into the history lesson.

"At the time of the adoption of the 14th Amendment," he wrote, "Arkansas was in the clutches of carpet baggers and scoundrels; the legislature was composed of individuals born and reared in the North who came south after cessation of hostilities for the purpose of preying on the people of this state who had expended all their efforts, time, money and many lives fighting for a principle which they believed in."

"At that time anyone who had remained loyal to the South was disfranchised and had no vote and, in consequence, the members of the House and Senate were all foreigners."

"The situation in Arkansas at that time was similar to that in all the Southern states. One might say the amendment was adopted through coercion of a rifle and cannon—not through the legal processes of law."

Woman to Die for Slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A century ago Chepita Rodriguez, convicted of killing a rancher with an axe, was hanged. No other woman has ever been executed in Texas.

But Carolyn Ann Lima and her female impersonating boyfriend, Leslie Douglas Ashley, are to die in the state prison's electric chair early Saturday morning.

Two U.S. Supreme Court justices, Hugo Black and William J. Brennan, refused Thursday to stay the executions. The application was then sent to Justice Arthur Goldberg, who is expected to rule on it today.

Ashley told a newsmen: "I'm ready to go as I can ever be. I guess. I know it's going to be a horrible thing in there. My cell is less than 12 feet from the death chamber."

Miss Lima, asked if she had expected the rulings, nodded and then said, "I feel sorry for Douglas. I don't think he's going to be able to take it."

Ashley, 24, and Miss Lima, 30, were convicted in the Feb. 6, 1961, slaying of Fred Tones, a Houston real estate man. His mutilated and nude body was riddled with bullets and burned.

Russian Troops in Cuba Is the Big Issue

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The latest Cuban squall—with more thunder than lightning—seemed to have all but passed over today. And U.S. officials turned again to a more lingering problem: the thousands of Russian troops still in Cuba.

Tension over Thursday night's Cuban MIG attack on an American cargo ship, the Floridian, dropped sharply after a swift note from Cuba saying the Russian-built fighters "probably fired in error." The ship was not hit.

Informants in Havana said Friday night that Prime Minister Fidel Castro has promised to deliver an explanation to the United States on the straining.

But time was approaching for what President Kennedy said would be a new look at Soviet troop strength on the island.

At his last news conference March 21, Kennedy said that about 3,000 Russians had left Cuba since Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev promised to withdraw several thousand. That left an estimated 14,000 on the island—and, said Kennedy, "We hope more will pull out."

"The month of March is not finished yet and we should have a clearer idea as to what the total numbers should be in the coming days."

Since then about 400 more Soviet military personnel have departed, according to unofficial reports. But Kennedy, who considered the Cuban situation at a meeting of the National Security Council Executive Committee Friday, has kept silent on the count.

The quick cooling off of the shooting incident indicated both Havana and Washington wanted to avoid any new crisis.

The State Department disclosed Friday that the straining—which occurred about 20 miles north of the northern Cuba coast—was preceded and followed by diplomatic messages from Havana.

The Castro government possibly jittery over hit-and-run raids by Cuban exiles, messaged Washington that its planes had spotted a "suspect" boat flying the American flag and asked whether the U.S. flag was being legitimately flown.

Before the message was received, however, the MIGs had already fired bursts at the Floridian. Then, the State Department said, the Castro government hurried off a second message that the MIGs "probably fired in error and that there had been no intention on part of the Cuban government to shoot at the Floridian."

Assistant Secretary of State Edwin M. Martin, who handles Latin American affairs, said Friday night the free lance forays might cause the Russians to slow down their troop withdrawals.

The Soviet Union's protest over the latest refugee attack on a Soviet ship and its demand that the United States pay for the damage, was still "under study" in Washington. The note arrived Friday afternoon.

Billy Sol to Appeal Conviction

By FINIS MOTHERSHEAD

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—At least part of the Billie Sol Estes maneuvers in farm finance were fraud and not just a method of doing big business, a federal court jury decided Thursday.

Unless the appellate courts disagree, the chubby, round faced promoter could draw prison terms totaling up to 5 years. U. S. Dist. Judge R.E. Thomason said sentence will be passed in about two weeks.

The verdict, capping an 18-day trial, came just one day short of a year after federal agents arrested Estes at his costly Pecos home in West Texas. Since then his 30-odd firms dealing in grain storage, fertilizer sales and cotton farming have collapsed. Now he's bankrupt.

Estes, outwardly unperturbed, gazed steadily at the jurors as the decision was read. He even managed a weak smile. His wife Patsy, occupying a front row seat in the courtroom, looked stricken.

As they left with Estes' three brothers, both declined comment on the conviction or their plans. Mrs. Estes, a comely blonde, clutched his arm tightly and murmured in a low, tense voice:

"He looks just as good to me."

Hit-and-Run Storm in the Far West

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A hit-and-run wind and rain storm chalked up four deaths and caused numerous power failures in the Far West Wednesday before it sped east toward the Rocky Mountains.

The deaths were in San Francisco and in an area around Crescent City, Calif., near the Oregon border, but the power losses spread through Oregon west of the Cascades and into eastern Washington as the storm raced north and east.

An hour-long storm swept into Spokane, Wash., Wednesday night with 54-mile-an-hour gusts. Two areas in the city were without power for awhile, plate glass windows were shattered, part of a roof was blown off and a number of trees were uprooted.

Snow closed U.S. 40 through the California Sierra at Baxter. Wind gusts of 74 miles an hour were clocked by the Coast Guard at Brookings, Ore. Crescent City measured 72 m.p.h. blasts. Winds dropped to a peak of 63 m.p.h. as the storm passed through Portland, Ore., then to the 30s in Washington.

California's only reported major power loss was in Vallejo, 25 miles northeast of San Francisco, where poles blew down and service was out.

Many northern California points reported an inch or more of rain. The storm spread into northern Nevada, Idaho and extreme western Montana with diminished rain or snow was predicted today from north and central California to east of the Continental Divide in Montana.

There was no stormy weather in other parts of the nation. Showers and light rain dampened the north and central sections of New York State. Fog was reported in eastern areas of New York State and in the Daytona Beach, Fla., area.

There Are Some Things Can't be Done

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's quite easy to make a kitchen-sink housewife out of a lady," said Alfred Hitchcock positively, "but you can't make a lady out of a kitchen-sink housewife."

"You can always take a thing down, but you can't take it up." Hitchcock's chubby master of suspense was off on one of his favorite topics—the shortage of real ladies in Hollywood.

"I don't think there are any ladies left on the screen," he said, fingering a cool glass of champagne as he looked with glowing appreciation at the dish before him—a hot chicken pie.

"In its heyday we had nothing but ladies. I have in mind ladies like Norma Shearer, Carole Lombard, Irene Dunne, Myrna Loy, Garbo, Ingrid Bergman."

"An artist to be a real artist has to have range."

Sitting at the film director's side was his latest discovery, Tippi Hedren, an ex-model who is featured in his latest thriller. Tippi is slender, blondely beautiful, and looks like a younger sister of Grace Kelly. She is hopeful that her association with Hitchcock will prove an escalator to stardom, as it proved for several other actresses, including Princess Grace and Vera Miles.

Although the mystery master has turned out some 50 films, the Academy Award for directing has always eluded him—a loss which doesn't seem to grieve his placid spirit much. He doesn't regard the winning of Oscars as his real task in life.

"I don't have any real frustrations," he said cheerfully. "My biggest problem, if any, is the so-called students of the cinema. You can never quite satisfy them completely again once you've been discovered. They're always looking for something more."

Hitchcock is quite satisfied going on with his real goal in life—to entertain people by scaring them.

"Why do I scare them?" he asked. "Because they demand it. They want to be scared. They love it."

"Children love to be scared, too, in the games they play. They like to go up in a swing scaring the hell out of themselves as they go higher and higher and higher."

He turned then to the subject that is dearest to his heart: diet to films—food. This dieter's diet ranges in weight from 185 pounds to a soaring 97. Right now he's around 205 to 210, depending on the time of day.

Asked to name his favorite meal, he began:

"Two roast chickens with ham, any fresh vegetables available, stuffing made of green parsley, suet and bread crumbs, mixed chicken and beef gravy, only slightly thickened, and—"

The look of cherubic joy suddenly faded. He paused, unwilling to go on with this kind of self-torture.

"I'm trying to take off 15 pounds right now," he explained.

New Election in Union Fight

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board today ordered a new bargaining election in the continuing fight between James R. Hoffa and a rebel group for control of the huge Local 107 of the Teamsters Union.

The NLRB order, made in Washington but announced here, gave the Voice of the Teamsters, a rebel group in Local 107, another chance to upset Hoffa and take the local into the AFL-CIO.

The voice lost an NLRB election last November by 596 votes out of 7,163 cast.

That election was considered the most serious challenge yet to the Hoffa leadership of the Teamsters. It was the first such challenge to Hoffa among over-the-road truck drivers—regarded as his strongest supporters.

Smaller units of the Teamsters have broken away previously, but they involved taxicab, milk and soft drink truck drivers.

Soll Pox Takes Toll in India

CALCUTTA, India (AP)—Thousands of Hindus and Moslems in the Gaya district of Bihar State are trekking to temples and mosques to pray day and night for survival. Smallpox there has killed more than 300 people in 2½ months.

More than 100 have died in Gaya City, authorities said today, and almost 1,000 are ill with either measles or smallpox. They said the pestilence shows no sign of ending.

Chapter XXXVI

One day while Miss Donovan was out, Dr. Cornish walked into Nancy's room.

"Well, Mrs. Anders?" Cornish said.

Nancy flushed deeply. "He has told you, then?" she did not remember seeing him at all during her illness, although Miss Donovan had mentioned several times that he had been with her through the worst of it.

Cornish saw that Nancy had no recollection of the delirium.

"He told me many days ago," Cornish advanced and leaned upon the foot of the bed. "I'd been meaning to come up, but I had no time. I wanted to get a better look at the young lady who had cut me out with David Anders — my rival."

"You don't like me, Dr. Cornish, do you?"

He pulled up a chair and studied her face.

"Your husband does — very much. Isn't that enough for you?" "You see, Dr. Cornish," Nancy explained, "he thinks he'll be happy — giving up what he did, for me. Oh, I felt sure you were going to pick him! It's when the years begin to pass that he'll wonder sometimes what would have happened if he hadn't married me."

"What nonsense you're talking. Do you think, having been married to you, he'll ever be happy without you? You're talking nonsense."

"I don't know. We were married such a little while. Maybe it won't matter."

Cornish said shortly. "You know, my dear, I'm not against marriage. I'm for medicine. It has always seemed to me that a man takes a life work upon him when he assumes the task of making a woman happy, of giving his effort to his children. That it's such a delicate, precarious thing — this business of taking another's life on his shoulders, another's thoughts and sensitivities — that he can't quite fully give to a profession like medicine."

"Many great doctors were married."

"To unusual women."

"I'll try to be — an — unusual woman."

"I haven't changed my attitude."

DOROTHY DIX

HUSBAND SAYS SHE'S TOO FRIENDLY
By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My married life couldn't be happier, save for one thing. We own our home and car, have two little boys and never argue.

However, my husband thinks I lack reserve, am overimulsive and too friendly with people I really don't know well. I take everybody at their face value then feel hurt when I find out later that they don't come up to my estimation of them.

After we moved into this section of town, people talked about me (so neighbors say) and only because my husband and I are of different nationality. But eventually, they would change, especially when they saw that their hostility didn't affect me — at least outwardly.

One by one they dropped in to visit and tell me how to raise my children, keep house and even dress. One didn't approve of a wife when I wore a pony tail.

Generally speaking, they were friendly at the start, then hostile, then gossipy behind my back, knifing me whenever they could. It hurt terribly because I try to be kind to all and greet neighbors when we meet, even if we've not been introduced.

Now, I'm the opposite of my old, outgoing eager self; stay at home, seldom talk to people and live my life within my own four walls. Those same gossipy neighbors ask what's bugging me, as if they didn't know. Am I full of imagination? Are these things (trivial) Is it because I don't recognize friendship? —Wounded

Dear Wounded: One of the most difficult lessons we all have to learn in life is how to get along with other people.

While, as your husband says, there is such a thing as being overfriendly, to cut yourself off from the life around you and cease speaking to the neighbors is ridiculous.

The important thing is to be yourself. If it is your nature to be outgoing, continue your warm-hearted, impulsive course without reason. Make it clear to the neighbors that you have a busy life of your own to lead. Set certain hours for visiting. When you have the leisure, drop them a little note inviting them to the house at a set time for a cup of tea or coffee, with the explanation that it's been far too long since you and they have had a good chat.

But don't go overboard. Maintain that fine line of reserve and dignity, which is the basis of real friendship. Show pride in home and family. If you believe that you and yours are something very special, others will too. The more insecure are bound to be envious and jealous.

Luckily their kind is in the minority so take them in your stride; concentrate on the good neighbors instead.

Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflets, "Neighbors."

ago, For Melton and Gross I've got jobs out of town — good ones, too. They both need more hospital work to mellow them, before they're ready for me — if they ever really want to work with me. And your news, David?"

"Why, Miss Hanniman says that Nancy may finish, if she wants to, after she's well. She decided since Nancy took sick on duty, and served so faithfully, and I'll be out anyway in a few days."

Seth Cornish knew the story. He started edging toward the door. It had always moved him to see a man bending over a sick bed to kiss his wife. But he did not close the door quickly enough to shut out the murmur of their voices, pleading, singing, loving.

THE END

Dear Helen: I went to a party that got out of hand. Those there, boys and girls, were from 13 to 19 years old; I'm just 13. There was kissing and sitting in parked cars. I didn't like that.

Daddy told me if the party got out of hand to call him but I didn't because they might think I had a spoiled daddy. Now I wish I had phoned Daddy: one of the boys is boasting he necked me. If Daddy ever hears of this he will never trust me again. What can I do? — Unhappy.

Dear Unhappy: Tell your Daddy the truth, explaining that you hesitated to call him for fear of being dubbed a kill-joy or tattletale. The parents of the child who gave the party are at fault for allowing boys or girls of 19 to come with the 13-year-olds. The difference in age is too great.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Glum to Glow."

Jock Gaynor New Idol of Matinee

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jock Gaynor, NBC's new candidate for matinee idol, is a tall, slim, dark-haired young actor who started Monday will be playing "an intense, dedicated young surgeon about 30 years old."

If this sounds like a character out of a night-time television program on a rival network, the resemblance is not entirely accidental. The epidemic of "medical anthologies," as these hospital-based programs are called, is now spreading into the daytime schedules. Gaynor's "The Doctors" is just one of two starting next week.

Everybody concerned insists "The Doctors" is not a "soap opera," in the traditional sense. That is mainly because each half-hour show will be a complete story — and does not have organ music.

It is part of a radical dramatic development. The villain in these days of "Ben Casey," "Dr. Kildare," "11th Hour," and "The Nurses" is more likely to be a dangerous germ, an unfortunate accident, a malfunctioning organ or a diseased mind than a human being.

"The Doctors" carefully has covered all explored bases. Gaynor will be the surgeon; Richard Roat will be a specialist in internal medicine, and instead of a nurse there will be a pretty pediatric specialist. Instead of a wise psychiatrist, there will be the hospital chaplain.

Gaynor, who says most of his previous television and motion picture experience has been devoted to playing "bad Indians and good white men in Westerns, is now taking surgery lessons.

His first "case," on Monday, will be a little girl with a hernia. And from there the show will move into all areas of physical and emotional distress on a one-day basis.

NBC finally has nabbed itself a beauty contest of its own, after all these years of watching CBS romp off with enormous audiences for the "Miss America" finals. NBC has "The International Beauty Contest" to be televised from Long Beach, Calif., in mid-August.

Saturn May Overtake Soviet Lead

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (P) —The United States' Saturn booster may soon overtake the Soviet lead in rocket power in a move which could have a significant bearing on the race to the moon.

Although Saturn still is in the experimental stage, it may within six months score a great propellant breakthrough and at the same time toss a 33,000-pound satellite into orbit—more than doubling the weight of the largest Soviet satellite sent up to date.

In 121 seconds of powered flight Thursday, Saturn completed the first phase of its test program. When the test was over, the first stage had registered its fourth success without a failure and demonstrated it can operate even when one of its eight engines fails.

After 100 seconds of flight, a timing device cut off one engine to simulate a failure. Fuel flow to that engine halted automatically and the propellant was distributed equally to the other seven.

The remaining working engines each burned two seconds longer than normal—to a maximum of 121 seconds—and Saturn completed its mission with very minor loss in performance.

The burned out rocket, carrying dummy upper stages and nose cone, soared upward to an altitude of 77 miles and then plopped into the Atlantic Ocean 230 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral, broke up and sank.

D. Brainerd Holmes, head of the manned spacelift program, termed the flight "another significant step toward getting man to the moon in this decade."

Under present plans, an advanced Saturn will boost American astronauts to the moon in 1968 in Project Apollo.

Dr. Werner Von Braun, director of the space agency's Marshall Space Flight Center which developed Saturn, said the program now is ready to begin tests of the second stage with the booster.

The first flight with the second stage is scheduled for September or October and Von Braun revealed the rocket will attempt to hurl a dummy payload weighing 18,000 pounds—most of it water—into orbit in what will be strictly a test of the booster's capability. He said the burned out second stage will remain attached to the payload—increasing total orbital weight to 33,000 pounds.

Heaviest payload ever lofted into orbit was the Soviet Union's 14,292-pound Sputnik VII. Largest object orbited by the United States was the Project Score Atlas weighing 8,750 pounds.

But the most significant factor of the next Saturn flight will be use of high energy liquid hydrogen fuel to power the second stage. At one time this extremely volatile fuel was considered too dangerous for rocket use. But Von Braun said months of ground tests have shown "it no longer can be considered frightening."

The one-time German rocket expert said several successful ground firings have been made of a heavy "battleship" version of the second stage. He said the first ground tests of an actual flight vehicle will be made next month.

The Saturn booster fired Thursday generated 1.3 million pounds of thrust, equal to 30 million horsepower.

In terms of operational space rockets, the Soviets presently hold a lead. For some time they have been flying operational missions with a rocket believed to generate one million pounds of thrust. They reportedly used a 1.2 million pound thrust vehicle to hurl a probe towards Mars last November.

Biggest operational U.S. space booster is the Atlas with 360,000 pounds thrust.

Sportswear and casual wear points up an extension of the Americana theme with emphasis on the frontier cowboy. Bandanna printed squares, both allover or spaced on ticking stripes are highlighted. Roosters and sunflowers also decorate ticking grounds in border designs. Calico prints, folk art motifs, and hearts and flowers with a country flavor are all popular in both children's and grown-ups' fashions.

Arkansas Tourist Season Opens

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' tourist season officially gets under way Monday, 30 days earlier than normal, with the opening of accommodations at most of the state parks.
The State Publicity and Parks Commission will hold an open house Sunday at Mather Lodge in Petit Jean State Park near Morrilton to launch the season.
Overnight accommodations at parks which have them will be rented Monday for the first time, Lou Oberste, publicity director, said.
Another open house is scheduled April 7 at the Lake View Cafe in Lake Catherine State Park near Hot Springs. Other Lake Catherine facilities will open next Sunday.
Opening of three parks has been delayed, Oberste said.
Devil's Den and Mt. Nebo State Parks, where construction is underway, will be opened April 15. Formal opening of Queen Wilhelmina State Park near Mena will be in mid-May.
Two Negroes were admitted to a bath house without incident here Thursday after they were denied access earlier.
M. T. Blanton and Henry Hardin made the integration move Thursday morning at the Buckstaff Bath House, one of 10 such facilities leased by the federal government to individuals.
After they were refused service they conferred for two hours with Robert H. Atkinson, superintendent of the Hot Springs National Park and Orland Koonce, manager of the bath house. They returned in the afternoon and were admitted.
Atkinson said he had assured Blanton earlier in the week that there would be no problems in his admittance and Koonce said he intended to abide by contract terms for administration of his facility. But he gave no reason for turning the two Negroes away on their first appearance.
The federal government has served notice that there is to be no racial discrimination at any of the houses, which are famed the world over for their mineral water.

Arguments on Ending Boxing

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Shortly after the war, one of the major political parties ran a national campaign with the slogan: "Had Enough?"
If boxing were the candidate on the same platform today, my answer would be: "Yes."
Boxing should be abolished. Now, completely, for good.
It is difficult to think of a single argument in its defense that stands up, except perhaps that many of us have enjoyed watching some fights. We shouldn't be very proud of that when we consider that the ones we liked best were the ones where real punishment was dealt out.
Let's look at the defense. It gives poor boys a chance. Nuts.
Hundreds who made millions are broke. Beau Jack went from shining shoes to shining shoes in 10 punishing years in the ring. The only thing he gets out of it today is bigger tips from the few customers who recognize the man at the other end of the rag.
It is a manly art. Foolishness.
Every boxing gym in the country is cluttered with broken bits of former men, their brains scrambled, their faces pounded and smashed into grotesque shapes. Ring a bell and they spring to a fighting stance. It's always good for a laugh.
People get killed at other sports. Hogwash.
Killing is the object of boxing. Just listen to the crowd sometime. Or take a good look at contorted faces when one of our fellow human beings is being battered senseless. The ancient Romans couldn't have looked any uglier.
Sure, sometimes golfers are struck by lightning. And a dozen high school boys got killed playing football last year, but that wasn't the object of their game.
What appeal does this sport of boxing have for you and me? We want to see one of the guys get hurt, that's what. Of course, we don't want him killed—even the Romans put their thumbs up once in a while.
But we pay to see the killers in the ring. Jack Dempsey outdrew them all. Scientific boxers can't make a dime.
You will hear it argued that a law to abolish boxing will be like Prohibition—people will go watch fights anyway, if they have to rent river barges for it. Nuts to that, too.

Negroes Stay

held in the jail on charges of violating a city ordinance against loitering and a state law requiring that a person leave private premises at the request of the management. Six were arrested on the charges after a sit-in demonstration at a hotel here Monday night, but one posted a $1,000 bond and went free, complaining that "I was getting claustrophobia in that jail."
The hotel demonstrators are to be tried Monday. No trial date has been set for the others.
Tuesday, 18 Negroes marched up and down the sidewalk outside the jail in protest of the arrests. Young told the demonstrators Thursday night: "I want to ask you politely to quit blocking the box office. You're welcome as customers at the colored entrance." He said the seats in the colored section were 25 cents cheaper and were "just as good" there.
When none left, Young called Police Chief Norman Young (no relation), who told the demonstrators those who didn't want to go to jail were free to leave.
Again no one left. The police chief then put his hand on the shoulder of one of the demonstrators and hustled him into the patrol wagon. He warned the others he would charge anyone who didn't get in the wagon or leave with an additional charge of resisting arrest. All got in and began singing.
Those arrested were identified as:
Robert Cannon, 17; Willie Barber, 20; Julius Caesar Dutton, 16; Dorothy Jackson, 15; Beatrice Burns, 15; Larry Johnson, 18; Joann Ford, 15; Marvin Smith, 16; Willie Tripp, 16; Kenneth Johnson, 15; Henry Turner, 16; Dennis Smith Jr., 18; Jamie Jones, 16; Doretha Barnes, 16; Alice Marie Perry, 5, and Brenda Joyce Hudson, 16, all of Pine Bluff.

today as he did yesterday." Prosecutors claimed Estes bilked about 100 individuals and up to a dozen finance companies, including some of the nation's largest, of about $24 million through phony mortgages on fertilizer tanks.
Specifically the jury convicted him on four counts of mail fraud and one of conspiracy, each carrying a maximum penalty of five years in prison. He was acquitted on nine counts and awaits trial on 13 more at Pecos.
Three co-defendants pleaded guilty earlier to five counts in the same indictment. They are Harold E. Orr of Amarillo and Coleman D. McSpadden of Lubbock, each sentenced to 10 years, and Ruel W. Alexander of Amarillo, six years.
Another jury convicted Estes on a state charge of swindling last fall at Tyler, fixing his sentence at eight years.
In the case here, the chief defense lawyer, John D. Coker, asked the court to let Estes remain free under $100,000 bond while an appeal is drafted. Judge Thomason granted the request, at the same time ordering a pre-sentencing report from a federal probation officer.
It took 49 hours and 45 minutes for the jury of 10 men and two women to work out a verdict. The panel advised Judge Thomason 21 hours earlier it was deadlocked but agreed to keep on trying to agree.

THE THREE CROSSES

Three crosses on a hill. Each cross means something. They were all intended to mean the same...public recognition of guilt...just punishment for wrong-doing. But look closely! Each has a very different meaning. On one side, the Cross of hopelessness...hard, bitter, — "If Thou art the Christ, save Thyself and us." On the other side, the Cross of Penitence... "Lord, remember me when Thou comest into Thy Kingdom." In the center, the Cross of Atonement... "Today, Thou shalt be with me in Paradise." Before which cross are you bowing? Have you given up in utter despair? Have you thought of your own personal need of repentance...an about-face in life? Then go to church Sunday and kneel once more before the Cross of Calvary...the Cross of Forgiveness...the Cross of Atonement with the God of all the universe...the center Cross.
